Abstract: (a few lines describing the course)	This course explores the concept of sustainability and its significance in addressing global challenges, including climate change, resource depletion, and biodiversity loss. We examine the interconnectedness of environmental, social, and economic systems and how they impact sustainability efforts. Through case studies and discussions, participants learn about sustainable practices across sectors such as energy, water, seafood production, and tourism. Additionally, we explore strategies to promote sustainability at individual, organisational, and community levels. It addresses environmental, sustainable, and social/community strategies, synchronised with the Sustainable Development Goals of the 2030 Agenda. Therefore, it is an opportunity for participants to gain a comprehensive understanding of sustainability principles and to gain insight into practical cases that contribute to a more sustainable future.
